

About the FNLGR System Readiness Series

This series is designed to support system readiness through practical, interactive training sessions tailored to specific user groups.

The sessions provide guided exposure to the FNLGR system environment, draft user materials, and applied scenarios that reflect anticipated registration and search activities. The sessions also support validation of user workflows and identification of refinements prior to broader onboarding.

Participants will have the opportunity to work directly within the FNLGR environment and provide feedback to support final system readiness.
