Framework Agreement

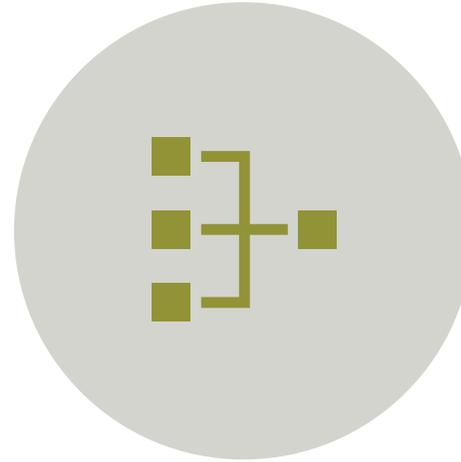

“Supporting First Nations to exercise their Inherent Right to govern their Lands and Resources.”

Framework Agreement and Indian Act

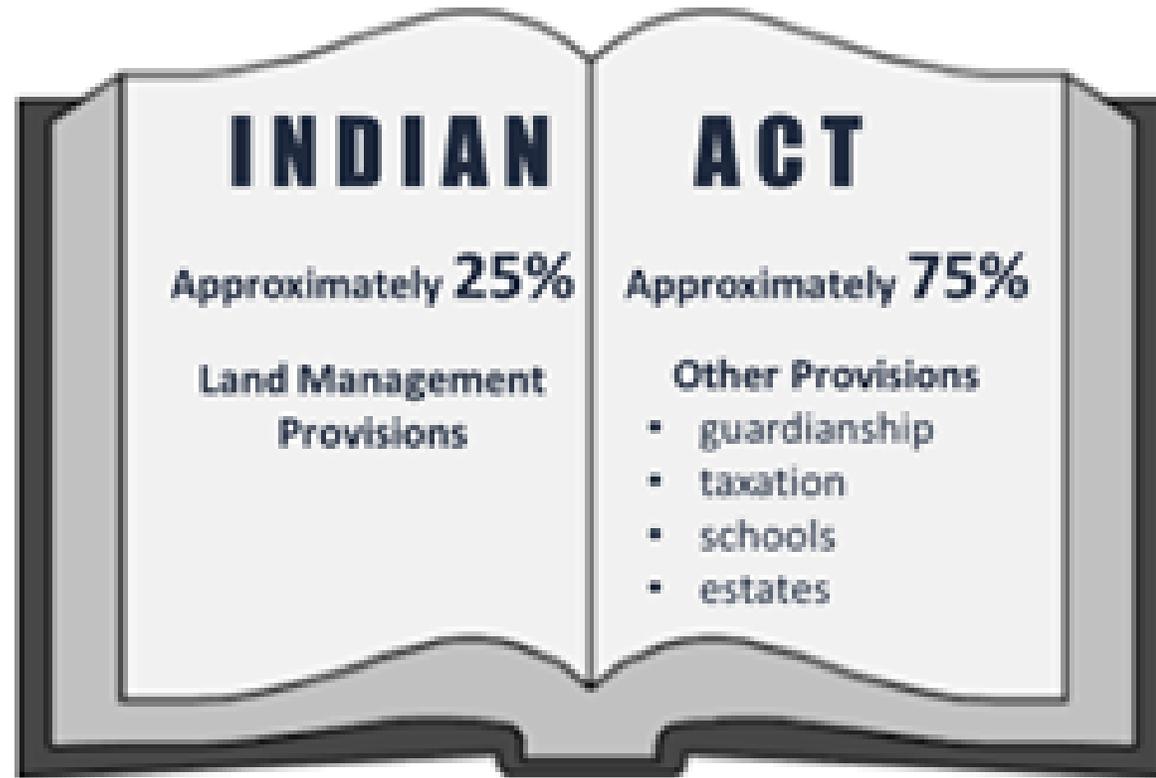

Dismantling The Indian Act

Re-establishing
First Nation Land Governance

The Indian Act currently applies on Indian Reserves:

What provisions does the FA contain ?

An opting in procedure

Land management rights and powers

Law-making

Environmental protection

Operational funding

Lands Advisory Board,
Establishment of a
Resource Centre

Dispute resolution, ratification and enactment by the parties

Enforcement of Laws

Why is the Framework Agreement significant ?

First Nations have an inherent right to manage their reserve lands and resources and the Framework Agreement is the first real recognition of this inherent right.

Opting out of the Indian Act

Taking Back Control

Remaining Federal Legislation:

Indian Oil and Gas Act

Migratory Birds Act

Species at Risk Act

Emergencies Act

Atomic Energy Control Act

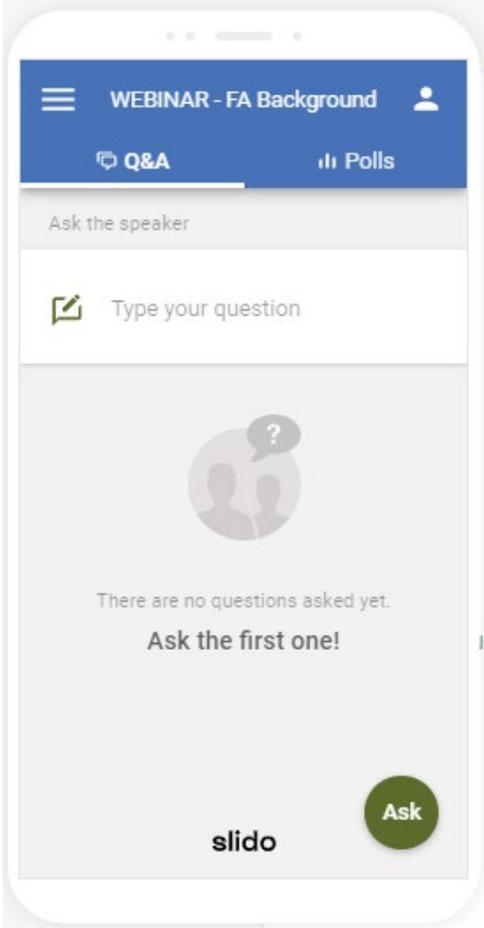

Why is the Framework Agreement so Successful ?

- The Framework Agreement, which was developed by First Nations:
- ✓ Continues to be led by First Nations, not Canada
 - ✓ Protects the title to reserve lands and resources for future generations
 - ✓ Demonstrates successful and sustainable economic development
 - ✓ Demonstrates that more cost effective, appropriate, and timely decision making is made by First Nation communities not Canada
